Dear Parents and Carers

I am writing to you all today to inform you that I will be retiring at the end of this academic year. Today I have informed the staff of my plans and wanted to do the same with the parent body.

Over the next weeks and months I will communicate further with you about succession planning in school which I hope to have a significant part in. Being Headteacher at President Kennedy has been an enormous honour and privilege for me over these last 5 years and I am especially grateful for all of the support you have given me and us during that time. It is very important to me that the core values that this school is built on are maintained as the school moves into the next phase of its journey.

With kind regards and thanks.

Yours sincerely

Neil Clayton
Headteacher
